Rothwell Notes.

Crops are looking fine in this section.

Every body is quiet except Russell, who is overjoyed with the prospects of being our next representative.

The school here opened Monday with a good attendance under the supervision of O. H. Swango, successor to Mr. Chas. F. Ringo.

The Wills school and an adjoining district is progressing nicely under the supervision of R. M. Ringo.

Miss Annie Rothwell was brought home last Saturday from Mt. Sterling, where she has been confined to her bed for several days with fever.

Chas. F. Ringo, who has been confined to his bed all spring and summer with bronchitis, started last Tuesday for Springer, New Mexico, for his health.

Since the coal road has been made a standard gauge, and the large train loads of freight shipped over it, there has been talk of it being extended farther into the mountains.

Tuesday morning the sad news reached Rothwell that Mr. John Hines' sawmill, about six or seven miles below here, near Salem, had been blown to pieces and that John Hines and his son and Frank Smith were killed. Smith was the engineer and notified all that there was danger of the mill blowing up, but before they could get away the boiler exploded, killing the three above mentioned and seriously injuring two others, named Downs and Hill, respectively. Hill is not expected to live. John Hines, the owner of the mill, was blown over one hundred yards from the mill and his body torn to pieces, which had to be gathered up in a cloth for burial. Butler Hines' and Smith's bodies were considerably mangled, both of Smith's legs and one of his arms being broken, besides numerous cuts and bruises about the head. Hill was scalded in the face and on his chest down to his waist and a terrible gash on his head, and is almost unrecognizable. He is conscious and thinks he will get well, although it looks impossible. Downs is not very seriously hurt and will be able to be about soon. The bodies of the dead men were cared for as best as could be and were laid to rest near the place where a few hours before they had been at work and enjoying good health. Mr. Hines was a middle aged man and Mr. Smith was an old employee who had been Mr. Hines' engineer for several years.

PUBLICITY.

Lane Sayings.

As I have not seen anything in THE HERALD for some time from our friend "Shanghai," I thought I would give you a few items from Lane. We do not know what has become of "Shanghai" unless he has gone to setting.

Cutting and putting up hay between showers is the order of the day among the farmers just now. Corn crops never looked better and pastures are the best for many years. Oats damaged by heavy rains.

J. M. Lamsaw was tried Tuesday last in Justice Chambers court for shooting on the public highway, and was fined $50. Just before the verdict was rendered he paid the cost and fine by giving the court "log" bail.

On last Sabbath Rev. Henry Taylor and G. W. Tyra preached at the Bailey Field schoolhouse to a large and attentive congregation. Religion and morality are on the up grade in the vicinity of Lane, as we have preaching or Sunday school every Sabbath in all the school houses in the various districts.

The new church house erected by J. R. Elkins will be dedicated by Rev. Wm. of the M. E. Church, on the first Sunday in September, and will be free for all religious denominations when not occupied by the Methodists, and free at all times if they choose to worship together.

The common school near Lane, with Richmond Holton as teacher, is progressing nicely.

Rev. Cline Tyra is teaching at Bailey Field and patrons are well pleased with him.

EXPENSE.

Caney Callings.

Drying and stilling apples is the go on Caney.

Misses Frances and Lucinda Rose, from Red River, visited their grandparents, William and Calah Wells, Saturday and Sunday last. Died, on July 25, of fever, Mrs. Rosaline Holton, wife of Henry Holton, she leaves a host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss, while she is safe in the arms of Jesus.

We were very sorry to hear that Bob Rose was defeated, but we believe that Jo C. Lykins will make us a good representative.

James T. Wells has a cow that last week dropped a calf that is something of a curiosity. It has no tail at all and presents quite an odd appearance.

Success to THE HERALD and its many readers.

Teachers' Institute.

Frenchburg Special.

The Menifee County Teachers' Institute was held at Frenchburg last week with Prof. C. C. Denniston, instructor; L. T. Hovernalle, secretary; B. F. Quicksall, Jno. B. Swango and Turner Spencer, committee on resolutions.

Among the teachers were B. F. Quicksall, O. H. Swango, John B. Swango, Joseph Catron, Grant Spradling and Miss Laurie Crain from Wolfe county. The efficient labor of County Superintendent Wells was manifested in the unusual interest taken in the work by the teachers generally. Good lectures were made frequently by L. T. Hovernalle, C. C. Denniston, O. H. Swango, B. F. Quicksall, R. M. Ringo, M. T. Hackney, Miss Mattie Hoffman, Mollie Belloware and others. It was one of the most interesting Institutes ever held in the county and proved that Menifee county teachers are at the head of the procession of advancement in the science of teaching.

HATFIELD-M'COY.

Son and Daughter of the Faction Leaders Said to be Engaged.

Four weeks ago, at a teachers' institute at Nolan, W. Va., Miss Emma M'Coey, a daughter of James M'Coey, one of the leaders of the M'Coey-Hatfield feud of the Kentucky-West Virginia border, met E. R. Hatfield, son of "Jonco" Hatfield, a leader of the Hatfield faction, and the young folks were not long in evincing a decided appreciation of each other's company.

This state of affairs continued up till the last of the session, by which time the entire community was interested. It is reported that young Hatfield announced that they intended to marry, and the people of that section are now gambling on whether it will cause a reconciliation or a renewal of the old fight.

"It is the best patent medicine in the world" is what Mr. E. M. Hartman, of Marquand, Oregon, says of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy. "What leads me to make this assertion is from the fact that dysentery in its worst form was prevalent around here last summer and it never took over two or three doses of this remedy to effect a complete cure." For sale by John M. Rose.

Some Summer Do's.

Don't wear a straw hat with a full dress suit.

Don't wear a dress hat and a shirt waist—it's bad taste.

Don't ask a girl to eat ice cream with you if you don't mean it.

Don't imagine you are a brass band. Your whistling annoys people.

Don't tell your girl its unhealthy to drink soda water. She knows better.

Don't ask "is this hot enough for you?" if you want people to think well of you.

Don't spend all your money on summer "scursons." You may need a new overcoat next winter.

Don't aspire to be a scorcher if you ride a wheel. Moderate riders have more fun and live longer.

Don't think, dear girls, that your sweetheart is jealous because he looks pained. His corns may hurt him.

Don't consume too much melon, fruit and cool liquors on a warm day. You may not make a handsome corpse.

Don't cuss a newspaper if you never pay for one. They're not trying to please you; it's the fellow who pays that they're printed for.

Lightning Hot Drops—

What a Funny Name!

Very True, but it Kills All Pain. Sold Everywhere. Every Day—Without Relief, There is No Pay!

Murder in Montgomery.

Horace Reynolds, aged about 19 years, was found dead in a thick cluster of bushes near Jeffersonville, Montgomery county, Saturday. He had been shot in the back with a shot-gun, two shot taking effect, and his head nearly severed from his body with a knife. John Hawkins, a young married man, of that neighborhood, who is suspected of his murder has disappeared and has not yet been captured.

Read THE HERALD and be happy.

THE KENTUCKY GUN.

Comments of the Press of Other States on Killings in Kentucky.

Kentucky continues free and reckless in the use of the pocket gun and sparing of its hemp.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Kentucky is overrated. What commercial activity she has comes from the selling of race horses and whiskey to northerners. Next to horses and whiskey her specialty is homicidal colonels.—Chicago News.

If Kentuckians are shocked by the savage Kentucky way it is their own fault. It is, because they make murder safe and respectable by encouraging the murderous disposition and condoning the crime. If a Kentuckian has powerful family and friendly influences he can arm himself to kill and kill his fellow men without loss of standing or fear of the consequences.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Killing at Versailles.

On Sunday afternoon, the 4th inst., at the Woodford Hotel in Versailles, W. N. Lane, of Montgomery county, shot Col. H. C. Rodbaugh, proprietor of the hotel, and his son James, the latter dying almost instantly and the former mortally wounded. Lane was said to have received a slight wound, but this is denied by Versailles doctors. He was arrested and put in jail at Versailles, but for fear of mob violence he was removed to Lexington for safe keeping. His examining trial is set for August 23, and Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge will defend him.

Mr. C. G. Strong, principal of the public schools at Anderson, Cal., says: "I have used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and have found it an excellent remedy for lameness and slight wounds."

Lameness usually results from a sprain, or other injury, or from rheumatism, for which Chamberlain's Pain Balm is especially intended and unequalled. It affords almost immediate relief and in short time effects a permanent cure. For sale by John M. Rose.

Daniel Boone's Compass.

Mrs. T. F. Hensley, of this paper, has a souvenir in the way of a small pocket compass, mounted in a rosewood frame which she values very highly, not only because it was a gift from her father, now deceased, but from the fact that it has been in the family for over half a century and was at one time the property of Daniel Boone. Boone gave the compass and an old-fashioned sun glass, used in those days to kindle fires, to Abraham Miller, her great uncle, who was a friend and hunting companion of Boone in the early days of Kentucky. Miller gave it to her father, his nephew, about forty years ago, so that the history, or rather tradition, as to its being a genuine Daniel Boone souvenir is unquestioned.—El Reno Democrat.

A Columbus, Ind., Thomas Banning, a railroader, came over from Jeffersonville to wed Miss Minnie Williams. The young lady didn't make her toilet quick enough to suit the young man, so he declared the wedding off and skipped out. This should be a warning to young ladies that a young man is not the most patient animal in the world.

Notice.

The Teachers' Institute of Wolfe county will be held at Hazel Green beginning August 26, 1895, and continuing five days. The instructor will be Prof. John C. Willis, of Mitchell, Ind. All the teachers of the county and those holding a certificate to teach are required by the law to attend. Thursday is "Trustee Day" and Thursday afternoon will be devoted to the duties and work of the trustees, and all the trustees of the county are requested to be present. Let every teacher come with some special preparation on some branch of the work. Prof. Willis will deliver a lecture on Tuesday night. Admission 10c.

A. F. BYRN, County Supt.

Col. Thomas S. Moberly, of Richmond, Ky., was drowned while bathing at Virginia Beach, Va., on Wednesday, Col. Moberly was one of the most prominent citizens of his county and the recognized head of the shorthorn interests of the United States.

Champion Jim Corbett and lanky Bob Fitzsimmons, who are billed to fight for the world's championship at Dallas, Tex., in October, met in a Philadelphia saloon and came near settling who had the best claim to the title of champion then and there. Blows were exchanged, but friends separated them before much damage was done.

"The great American hog" was at church a few nights ago. He took up enough room for six persons and spit tobacco all around his sweet-scented self for three or four feet. Such a man ought not to be allowed to associate with gentlemen, much less ladies. He ought to be put in the stry pen the next time he is out and slopped with ordinary every day hogs.

An injunction on the famous old liberty bell is the very latest freak of Philadelphia litigation. A bill in equity was filed this week in the common pleas court to have an injunction issued restraining the city from taking the liberty bell to the Atlantic Cotton States Exposition. The objection to the junket of Liberty's revered emblem is that it is already cracked, and may be utterly ruined by these repeated journeys.

Why Not You?

When thousands of people are taking Hood's Sarsaparilla to overcome the weakness and languor which are so common at this season, why are you not doing the same? When you know that Hood's Sarsaparilla has power to cure rheumatism, dyspepsia and all diseases caused by impure blood, why do you continue to suffer? Hood's cures others, why not you?

Hood's Pills are prompt and efficient. 25c.

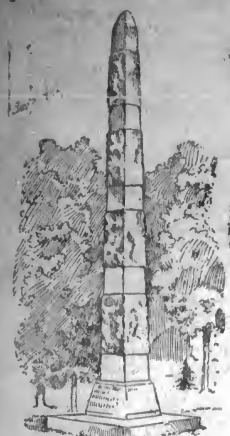

The telephone line from Morehead to West Liberty was completed several days ago and the inspectors of the line have now accepted it as being constructed according to contract. The stockholders have met and elected the following officers: Hon. W. M. Kendall, president, and Henry M. Cox, secretary. The same contractors are now letting out the stock in a line from West Liberty to this place by the way of the Caney coal fields.

TO THE UNKNOWN DEAD.

Advertisement for the Victims of the Ashland Disaster of 1876.

The accompanying cut is a likeness of a handsome young man, the son of the deceased, who was killed in the Ashland disaster, which has just been finished in Chestnut Grove cemetery, Ashland, O. It marks the spot where he was buried, the charred remains of humanity which were gathered from the ruins of that terrible disaster.

MONUMENT TO THE UNRECOGNIZED DEAD OF THE ASHTABULA DISASTER OF 1876.

terrible disaster of December 29, 1876, when the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railroad bridge, just east of the station in Ashland, sank beneath a heavily-laden passenger train and carried hundreds of persons to death in the abyss, 87 feet below the track level. The idea of erecting a monument to the memory of those who died on that awful night originated in the Knights of Pythias lodge, and a committee of the members brought it only before the people. It took three years to raise the amount of money needed. The Lake Shore road gave $200. The monument is of New Hampshire granite and built in obelisk style. It is 22 feet in height and occupies a conspicuous location in the cemetery, where it can be seen miles away. On one side of the base appear the names of twenty-five persons who were known to have perished in the wreck, and whose remains were presumably picked up, but could not possibly be identified. They are as follows: P. P. Bliss and wife, Mrs. F. Stoney, D. M. Holdridge, Henry M. Brunner, Martha Smith, Charlotte Smith, Emma Coffin, Mattie Brunner, Mary Jacobard, Louise Brainerd, Lottie Brunner, Mary Packard, Jonathan Bliss, R. Stoney, D. M. Holdridge, Henry M. Brunner, A. H. Stockwell, John R. Campbell, Harry Wagner, J. H. Aldrich, J. H. Merrill, Charles E. Brunner, Phillip McNeal and G. W. Taylor. The last named was a resident of Ashland, and all that was ever found of him was his watch. His widow still lives in that city. On another side appear the names of the members of the committee. The front inscription reads: "To the memory of the unrecognized dead of the Ashland bridge disaster, whose remains are buried here." On the fourth side are the names of the disaster and the mourning.

James Payn tells this story of the "American plan" of duelling, wherein the two duellists, with one second, meet within doors and draw lots for who shall shoot himself. A and B having had a difficulty, A was the victor, man, and retired for the purpose of self-destruction into the next apartment. Hand the second, both very much moved by the tragedy of the situation, remained in listening attitude. At last the pistol shot was heard; they shuddered with emotion and remorse, when suddenly in rushed the supposed dead man, triumphantly exclaiming: "Missed!"

A Napoleon Anecdote.
When Napoleon was a student at Brienne he happened to be asked by one of the examiners the following question: "Supposing you were in an invaded town threatened with starvation, how would you supply your own provisions?" "From the enemy," replied the subalternant of artillery; and this answer pleased the examiner, as they passed him without further questioning.

Favorite for the Business.
Nearly all the crumple-employment in the Monte Carlo public gambling establishment come from Alsace, and there is in the capital of the principality of Monaco a regular school, maintained by the reigning prince and his partners in the Casino company, where they are taught the ins and outs of the games, the various tricks of playing, as well as the means of cheating them, and manual dexterity in clearing the boards, paying the stakes, dealing and shifting the cards, etc.

DON'T STOP TOBACCO

IT'S INADVISABLE TO STOP SUD- DENLY and don't be imposed upon by buying a remedy that requires you to do so, as it is nothing more than a substitute. In the sudden stoppage of tobacco you can feel some stimu- lant, and in most all cases, the effect of the stimulant, be it opium, mor- phine, or other opiates, leaves a far worse habit contracted. Ask your druggist about BACO CURE. It is purely vegetable. You do not have to stop using tobacco with BACO-CURE. If you smoke, you will wish to stop and your desire for tobacco will cease. Your system will be as free from nicotine as the day before you took your first chaw or smoke. An iron-clad written guarantee to absolutely cure the tobacco habit in all its forms, or money refunded. Price $1.00 per box or 3 boxes (30-day treatment and guaranteed cure), $2.50. For sale by all druggists or will be sent by mail upon receipt of price. SEND SIX TWO CENT STAMPS FOR SAMPLE BOX. Booklets and proofs free.

Office of the MONROE PRESS COMPANY, C. W. HOBBS, JR., 101 N. PAUL ST., September 7, 1901.

Dear Sir:—I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected, until my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being at least. I tried the so-called "Keeley Cure," "No-To-Bac," and various other remedies, but without success, until I received your preparation, and today I consider myself completely cured. I am in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every inveterate smoker fully appreciates, has completely left me. I consider your "Baco-Cure" simply wonderful, and can fully recommend it to all who are suffering from this terrible habit. Yours very truly, C. W. HOBBS, JR.

POSING AT THE PIANO.

Paderewski Thinks That Pianists Should Look Effective While Playing.
When Paderewski was in New York he was calling at a prominent Wall street broker's home in Fifth Avenue. The broker told him he would like to have his opinion of his daughter's playing, says the New York Journal. The great pianist courteously replied that nothing would give him greater pleasure.

After the young lady had dashed off several selections Paderewski said:

"To get the greatest enjoyment from the piano the music must not only be heard but the performer should be seen. The performer should therefore be careful of his or her position at the instrument."

"I will be frank with you and say that I preferred to see rather than hear your daughter play. I might better say that I looked more than I listened. She held her hands so gracefully, there was a more than a listless, careless posture of the body while playing."

"Then there was life in her touch. Her fingers fairly sparkled as they ran over the board and touched the keys, rebounding from them with a snap that was exhilarating to behold. Her manner of playing her hands and her elbows. If I may so call it, showed proper training also."

"I will therefore add that my sense of hearing would have been equally delighted, doubtless, if my own eyesight had not been so completely monopolized. I complimented the young lady on her accomplishment."

"There is wisdom in that," said the broker, in repeating the conversation. "Teachers of the piano should give far more attention to this matter than they now do."

AS HARD AS THE DIAMOND.

Such Are Two Products of Chemical Experiment.

The diamond has always been regarded as possessing one quality which placed it beyond rivalry, namely, that it had been so completely monopolized, which compete with it in beauty, at least one, the ruby, even in color and quality, outranks it in rarity. It is none in the whole list equals it in hardness.

"Diamond cut diamond" has become a popular saying. The hardest steel cannot equal the diamond in that respect. The diamond, however, is not the hardest form of matter known. It is the hardest form of matter known.

That science progresses, and if nature has set aside for her king of gems the distinction of unapproachable hardness, the art of man has not been equally considerate. There are at least two products of chemical experiment which have proved, according to the great French chemist, Henry Moissan, to be as hard as diamonds.

These are produced from the rare metal titanium. Monsieur Moissan has succeeded in preparing titanium, the diamond of the future. In the preparation of these diamonds, the process is harder than steel or quartz, and when combined with silicon or boron, so as to form a silicide or boride of titanium, it matches the diamond itself in hardness.

These diamonds resemble in their physical properties, and it is the characteristic element in the beautiful red and brown crystals of rutile. These, in the shape of needles, are sometimes found encrusting large white quartz crystals, forming gems that the French call "love's arrows."

Nature's Lightning Rod.

M. Gourovoff, the Russian electrician of Moscow, and Prof. Hilsch, government forest inspector of the same city, have made some investigation concerning the lightning rod. In the summer of 1893 and 1894, the two scientists mentioned spent 109 days in the great forest between Moscow and Riemersdorf, during that time they found that the trees were struck by lightning. The total number of marked trees were found to be white poplar (populus alba), this notwithstanding the fact that this species is not any way less common as a half dozen or dozen other varieties. On Gourovoff's suggestion the government recommends that the peasants use as a lightning conductor.

His Way.

We all know the story of that bright fly who answered correctly when asked how many legs a fly has, but who had been enabled to do it only by being an insect and counting. The Washington Herald gives a parallel illustration. A teacher recently told her scholars to mark on their slates the number of minutes one of the boys had spent in his hand signifying that he had accomplished the work. "Why, John," said the teacher, "how you must be hurried! None of the other scholars has done so quickly." "I got home from the clock on the wall up here," replied Jimmy, with great glee.

The Sheep Renewed.

Operators looking at the "happy life" of a menagerie have often wondered if the ovine member ever laid in the midst of the lion. The Glasgow Herald answers. The owner of a menagerie in Berlin, which included a lion family, consisting of a lion, a wolf and a sheep, was asked to describe the scene how long these animals had lived together. "For six months," he replied, "except the lion which has to be renewed occasionally."

AMONG TOYMAKERS.

Miss Amelia B. Edwards Tells of What She Saw in the House of St. Ulrich.

In her story of the toymakers of the Tyrol, Miss Amelia B. Edwards, in her "Untold Peaks," mentions many an interesting visit to the homes of the working people of St. Ulrich, where so many toys are made.

"In one house," runs the account, "we found an old woman at work, Magdalena, Taidau by name. She carved cats, dogs, wolves, sheep, goats and elephants. She has made these six animals her whole life long, and she has no idea how to cut anything else. She makes them in two sizes, and she turns out as nearly as possible a thousand of them a year. She has no model or drawing of any kind to work by, but goes on steadily, unerringly, using gouges of different sizes and shaping out her cats, dogs, wolves, sheep, goats and elephants with an ease and an amount of truth to nature that would be clever if it were not utterly mechanical. Magdalena learned her art from her mother; how to carve these six animals, and her mother had learned, in like manner, from her grandmother. Magdalena has also taught the art to her own granddaughter, and so it will go on being transmitted for generations."

In another house Miss Edwards found the whole family carving skulls and crossbones for fixing at the bases of crucifixes, for the wood carving of Grottoes. That is religious in its nature as well as amusing. In other houses there were families that carved racing horses or dolls or other toys, and in still other houses there were families of painters.

"In one house," says the gifted author, "we found about a dozen girls painting gray horses with black points. In another house they painted only red horses with white points. It is a separate branch of the trade to paint saddles and harness. A good hand will paint twelve dozen horses a day, each horse being about one foot in length, and for these she is paid fifty-five shillings, or about $1.25 a day. ## PARTIES OF SHOPPERS.

Accomplish Less and Try the Clerk More Than Does an Individual.

Is there anything of the year when women don't shop?

I suppose there must be, but I declare whenever I visit one of the mammoth emporiums, it is filled with the fair ones as busy as bees.

They generally hunt in couples, or even in threes or fours, and the shopmen and women rather resent this.

For, if Miss Jones is alone, she has one customer to serve. But a quartette means four times the work, or so the employees have often assured me.

For instance: "Oh, that's just lovely! I've been looking for that all day. Can you let me have fourteen yards?"

"Yes."

The shopman unrolls the silk and takes out his scissors.

"Wait a moment, Jennie, do you like that for me?"

Jennie likes it very much, and again the scissors flash like the lightning.

"What do you think of it, Emma?"

Emma has her doubts, and Susie is quite sure it won't be becoming.

"Oh, then wait! You needn't cut that off. I'll look at something else."

The shopman pockets his scissors, and brings out a light instead, for the busy time float away, and that sale is closed.

THE HORSELESS AGE.

Electricity Will Soon Drive the Useful Animal Out of the Street.

Dr. Chauncey M. Depew, who was asked whether he thought the horse was doomed, said: "I imagine that one fine morning you will wake up with an automobile ready to take us to our offices by an automobile carriage, or, perchance, through the air. But in spite of my full belief in the electric carriage of the future I doubt whether the service of the horse will ever be entirely dispensed with. I cannot conceive our active Americans adapting themselves to the pursuit of pleasure in carriages moved by electricity or by any other kind of motor but the horse. What has made the bicycle so universally popular but the one fact that it permits of action on the part of the rider, that it affords excitement? For similar reasons, the carriage horse will always have friends and admirers; his stately action and movement cannot be duplicated or imitated. As to the objection that everyday horses are certainly doomed. The extent to which electricity has discredited and replaced him is exemplified by the fact that no longer pays to break up horses that command but a moderate price."

A Romance of the Passage.

In a very interesting article, "The Wires of Eminent Statesmen," in the Woman at Home, we read of a romance connected with the marriage of the present marquis and marchioness of Salisbury. A judge's daughter was not considered a sufficient match for the late Lord Salisbury. The late Lord Salisbury's son, then Lord Robert Cecil, was persistent, he so far relented as to make terms. These were that Lord Robert should undertake not to see or hear of his father-in-law for an entire year. The young lord stood the test, and at the close of the year he obtained his father's consent; but the marquis, while continuing his alliance, ance of six hundred pounds a year, declined to increase it. He runs the story; and it has been said that the necessity of doing something for his own safety has assisted to develop the noble lord's talent.

DUPLICATE NAMES.

Honorable Gentlemen Who Are Likely to Be Mixed Up in Congress.

The Fifty-fourth congress will contain a considerable number of members of duplicate names, says the Washington Post. There are two members by the name of Arnold, one from Pennsylvania and one from Rhode Island; three Bakers, from Kansas, Maryland and New Hampshire; two Bartlets, from Georgia and New York; two Bells, from Colorado and Texas; two Blacks, from Georgia and New York; two Burtons, from Maryland and Ohio; three Clarks, from Alabama, Iowa and Missouri; two Cannons, from Illinois and Utah; two Cooks, from Illinois and Wisconsin; three Coopers, from Florida, Texas and Wisconsin; three Curtises, from Iowa, Kansas and New York; two Cobbs, from Alabama and Missouri; Gillett from Massachusetts and Gillet from New York; two Henrys, from Connecticut and Indiana; two Johnsons, from Indiana and North Dakota; two Millers, from Kansas and West Virginia; two Murphys, from Illinois and Arizona; two Mcalls, from Massachusetts and Tennessee; Miner from New York and Minor from Wisconsin bear the same name with the distinction of one letter; two members bear the name of Russell, one from Connecticut and the other from Georgia. There are two Smiths, one from Illinois and one from Michigan; two Tones, both from Pennsylvania; two Turners, from Georgia and Virginia; two Walkers, from Massachusetts and Virginia. Then we have more men bearing the name of Wilson than any other—four in all—from Idaho, New York, Ohio and South Carolina.

To Manufacture Glass Pipes.

A new method of manufacturing glass pipe has been discovered which promises to revolutionize that industry. It has hitherto been found impossible to mold large glass tubes of any great length because the glass would cool while running into the mold, and the structure of the tube was not homogeneous. The new method consists in using a mold with a movable piston. The piston is just enough smaller than the outer shell of the mold to allow for the thickness of the tube to be made. ## $100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The Breathitt county people say they are sure to get the Irons railroad. The corps of engineers have surveyed the route three times with a view to a permanent location. The proposed road is to tap the Lexington and Eastern one mile below Jackson and the plan is to have no station at the junction, but to build the switches at Jackson. The engineers have been discharged from service till September, when it is expected that they will survey the Mill Creek route. It is hard to say what the company will do and our people can do nothing but protect their interests and stand the time.

The Houses For It.

FRANKFORT, KY., July 28.—The cat is out of the bag. The strange silence of the negro politicians in Kentucky after the Republican convention failed to put a negro on the state ticket is at last explained.

It was worked on the quiet and the skillful promoters thought the plan would never be divulged, but it has gradually leaked out that the Republicans have promised, in the event of success in November, to divide all clerkships and appointments with the negroes.

In a number of state campaigns heretofore the colored brother has had a representative on the ticket, but he is conspicuous by his absence this time, and yet there is not the first sign of a kick. In former years, whenever the black was ignored in the State Convention, there was a big howl raised. Not so this year. Why? Because when the colored brother presented himself in the form of a committee to the party leaders at the Louisville Convention and asked what was going to be done with him, he was taken into a secret conference—a regular star-chamber pow-wow—that no one but those inside the small room at the Willard hotel were to know.

The colored brother was told in strict confidence that if a negro was put on the state ticket it would be materially weakened thereby, as many of the best Republicans and all the Democrats who were thinking of deserting would refuse to vote if the ticket was not all white.

He was told furthermore that if he would not insist on having a place on the ticket he would be given half the clerkships at Frankfort, and half the appointments to be made by the governor in consideration of the fact that half the Republican votes in Kentucky are furnished by the colored brother at every election.

JUDGE JACKSON.

Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court Dead.

Associate Justice Howell Edmund Jackson, of the supreme court of the United States, died on Thursday afternoon at his home, West Meade, six miles from Nashville, Tennessee. Judge Jackson had been in failing health for the past four years, but it has been only in the past eight or nine months that the progress of his disease began to cause his family and friends uneasiness.

Howell Edmund Jackson was born in Paris Tenn., April 8th, 1822, so that he was in his 63rd year at the time of his death. Justice Jackson was a classical scholar, graduating from the West Tennessee college in 1848.

He studied law two years at the University of Virginia and at Jackson, under his kinsmen, Judges A. W. O. Tottan and Milton Brown, graduated from the Lebanon law school in 1856, in which year he located at Jackson and engaged in the practice of his profession; removed to Memphis in 1859, where he continued the practice of law; served on the supreme bench by appointment on two occasions, and was once a prominent candidate for supreme judge before the nominating convention; relocated in Jackson in 1876; was elected to the state house of Representatives in 1880 on the state credit platform; was elected to the United States senate as Democrat in 1881, and served till April 12, 1886; was appointed United States circuit judge by President Cleveland and nominated for associate judge by President Harrison; was confirmed by the senate February 18, 1893, and entered the duties of that office March 4, 1894.

Judge J. W. Perry is confined to his room from the effects of a surgical operation last Monday by Dr. D. A. Coyle, assisted by Dr. W. A. Brock, of this city, and Dr. L. D. Carter, of West Liberty, Ky., in the removal of an enlargement of the left shoulder, caused by a wound received many years ago. The operation was entirely successful, and the Judge will be at his office in a few days.—Lexington Leader.

Now that the farmers are harvesting their hay it would be well for them to consider plans for preserving it. The strength in the hay is best preserved by haling. Circuit Judge John S. Patton did not die at his home near Hindman, Knott county, the past week, as was widely reported. He was very ill, but is now some better.

Make another notch for Kentucky. Wesley Brook shot and killed his brother-in-law, Lewis Payne, near Payne's depot, Scott county, Monday. In Woodford county farmer Samuel Burks tried to kill his brother in a quarrel.

The records show that 685 firms and corporations have voluntarily advanced the wages of 514,000 employees during the present year, which is more than all the strikes have ever done for the promotion of the interests of labor.

Chas. O'Connell, of Mt. Sterling, arrived in town Tuesday afternoon. He came in on the hurricane deck of a sad-eyed mule and will doubtless remain until Hazel Green has railroad connections with Mt. Sterling. He is employed in THE HERALD office.

Some thoughtless boys and it pains us to say some young ladies, have conducted themselves in a manner rather unbecoming to well-bred people. We should guard well our conduct at all times, but no where does one reflect more upon his raising than at church services.

Some One during Saturday night two noted Eastern Kentucky desperadoes, excepted from the F. (all) county jail at Irvine. The "birds" did not lose any time in leaving Estill county, and so far they have not been captured. The two men are William Patrick, a noted desperado, and George Abney, horse stealing, and George Abney.

RELIC OF PEREGRINUS.

Authenticated by Archbishop Corrigan, of New York.

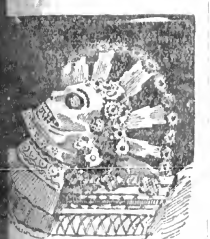

History of a Married Saint and How His Remains Came to His Transportation from Bavaria to the United States.

Last Good Friday there arrived in New York the mortal remains of Peregrinus, saint and martyr. He was entombed in a pine box sealed and packed. The custom house authorities had violated the sanctities of the seals but for the interference of other Gerard Spielman, O. S. B., of New York, to whom the relic had been delivered. He explained to the Inspector of customs that the canon rule required that the seals of a sacred relic should be opened only in the presence of the ecclesiastical authorities, whose duty it was to pronounce upon its genuineness. The Inspector yielded with a murmur, and the saint was duly entombed in the rectory of St. Anselm's, at One Hundred and Fifty-third street and Tinton avenue, awaiting the time when Archbishop Corrigan should examine all the documents, authenticate the relic and approved its being exposed to public veneration in the church itself.

These details, says the New York Herald, have now been complied with. The relic has passed the strict scrutiny. Its history has been verified and its genuineness established beyond a doubt. So the saint now occupies an altar in the basement of the still uncompleted church. When that edifice is completed it will have a shrine especially built for it.

The body is in an excellent state of preservation. The face, although nothing of course but dried skin and bone, wears an appearance that is not at all ghastly or repulsive, and the gleam of a smile, pleasant and gracious, is perceptible. It wears gorgeous raiment of silk, decorated with jewels and pearls, made for it in 1721 and in the fashion of that period rather than of the time when Peregrinus actually flourished. In the right hand the palm emblematic of martyrdom, the left a tiny disk containing a few drops of the saint's blood, dried to a fine dust, and on the head a silver crown laded with jewels. The shoes, of fur, and are not unlike Indian moccasins. This is the first genuine entire body of a saint ever brought to this country.

OF ST. PEREGRINUS, THE MARTYR.

ough, of course, there are already relics of this kind in the shape of fragments of saints and certain of their belongings.

Peregrinus was martyred in Rome, Emperor Commodus in A. D. 183, was only seventeen years old, but had not finished his body was washed on the rack, torn with iron nails, beaten with clubs and burned torches applied to his sides. He breathed his last uttering the words: "Christus." His body was buried in the Catacombs. There remained until 1731, when it was reinterred at the Benedictine monastery of Neustadt, Bavaria.

On the fourth Sunday after Easter was celebrated as the feast day of the saint, and great crowds would flock to visit his shrine from all parts of Bavaria.

Violent thieves were driven from the vicinity in this century. Their money and fertile lands were confiscated. Later they were handed over to the government by Count von Lowenhausen, who is still the virtual sovereign of the entire domain. He restored the church and called back the Benedictines. In 1851 a miracle occurred. A church was burned and the body of St. Peregrinus was found in the ruins. A new church was built. The body of St. Peregrinus increased with the veneration of the Almighty's people.

Gerard Spielman, who is a prominent lawyer, was in Neustadt last summer and Count von Lowenhausen presented to him as representing the church of St. Anselm at New York, which is to be one of the hands of the saint owned by the Benedictines.

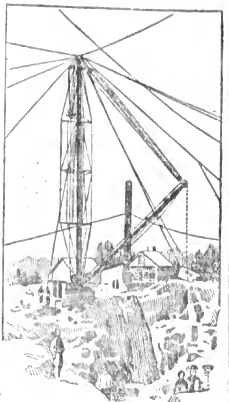

At Neufeldt wept when he heard of the proposed transfer, and the bishop of the diocese at first opposed it. But in the end the count prevailed. The bishop and pastor issued the necessary decrees of authentication, and the body was sent up, and amid the prayers of the people, Father Spielman took it with him to Bremen where he will sail for America. The body of St. Peregrinus in its casket is almost the exact length of the altar where it is placed in St. Anselm's church. A niche has been made for it beneath the altar slab in the middle of the front surface, and in this it fits exactly—front in line with the altar front, and its ends almost to the altar's ends. The casket is of red wood on three sides, but the entire front is of plate glass. By this arrangement in its present position the body lies beneath the altar slab, plainly visible. Anyone who advances to the chancel rail to genuflect can see the body with entire distinctness, and it is more or less visible from other positions.

THE LARGEST DERRICK.

It Has Lifted From the Quarry a Stone of Fifty-seven Tons.

A piece of mechanism like which there is none other in the world, is the gigantic steel derrick at the C. E. Taylor granite quarry at Barre, Vt. The mast, which is ninety-nine feet high, stands higher than any similar one yet erected. Both the mast and the boom are built of heavy steel plates riveted together with hundreds of large bolts.

LARGEST DERRICK IN THE WORLD.

and stiffened with a number of trusses. The mast is supported by guys running from the top to points averaging about two hundred feet distant and anchored to trees or great rocks set into the granite ledge. The wire rope in the guys and other rigging would make a continuous line almost a mile in length and the weight of the derrick, exclusive of rope, is about fifty thousand pounds.

The boom is seventy feet long and commands a large amount of working surface. None of the Barre granite quarries is deep; the tendency has always been to extend operations laterally instead of plying down into the earth, so that the advantage derived from the great length of boom is apparent.

The machine is operated by means of a powerful hoisting engine, and all the workings are controlled by a single engine, r. There are steam derricks at all the three quarries and granite manufacturing plants in Barre, but the power applied only to the hoisting; the booms with their loads of stone, in every instance, are swung around by hand power. At the foot of the Taylor derrick, heavily planked over to protect it from flying stones when blasting out the granite, is the turning gear connected by a wire rope with the engine-house, where, by means of a lever similar in its workings to the reversing lever on a locomotive, the engineer alone is able to lift from the bottom of the quarry, swing around to the side track and place upon a flat car a block of granite weighing forty tons. The largest single piece of stone ever lifted from a quarry in America by means of a derrick was taken from this quarry and weighed fifty-seven and one-half tons.

The derrick has always been found equal to any strain put upon it, and has several times broken chain links nearly two inches in diameter. The company has an order for a granite shaft fifty feet in length which, in the rough, will weigh nearly one hundred tons. It is already partly quarried.

Dressed Dogs.

The dogs at the French watering-place, Trouville, are a source of unfeeling amusement. A white terrier belonging to Comtesse de Breteuil had on white doeking leggings the other day when it was mangled, and a correspondent counted five different coats on one white pup one day, all embroidered with heraldry.

Women Give the Money.

It is estimated that of the total sum raised for the support of the Protestant churches of this country over one-third is now procured by the efforts or labors of women.

Letting is a Compass Plant.

It is said that the wild lettuce is "one of two well-marked compass plants," and that it has the property of twisting its leaves until they point straight upward, with the edges directed north and south.

The Rev. Geo. O. Barnes closed his meeting at Olympian Springs, Bath county, last Sunday.

Kentucky Democratic State Platform.

First—The Democracy of Kentucky in convention assembled congratulate the country upon the repeal of the McKinley tariff law, and upon the evidence we have on every hand of returning prosperity, under the operations of reduced and equal taxation; and we denounce as fraught with danger and disaster the threat of our Republican adversaries to re-establish a protective tariff and to re-negotiate a policy of unequal taxation, which in connection with general misgovernment by the Republican party culminated in the business panic of 1893.

Second—The Democratic party, which has always stood for the separation of church and state, for the sake alike of civil and religious freedom, does not hesitate to condemn all efforts to create a distinction among citizens because of differences in faith as repugnant to an enlightened age and abhorrent to the instincts of American freemen.

Third—We reaffirm without qualification the principles and policies declared by the National Democratic Platform of 1892, and declare that our present National Democratic Administration is entitled to the thanks of the party for its honest, courageous and statesmanlike management of public affairs; and we express our undiminished confidence in the Democracy and patriotism of President Grover Cleveland and his distinguished co-adviser and Secretary, John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky.

Fourth—When the Democratic party came into power in 1897 the bonded indebtedness of Kentucky was over $1,000,000. The nominal value of the assets of the sinking fund was about $800,000, made up in part of internal improvements that cost over and were carried at a valuation of $4,800,000, but which yielded at that time no net revenue, and were worth in cash only about $200,000, thus showing an actual deficit in the sinking fund as compared with our indebtedness of about $900,000. Since 1897 the bonded indebtedness has been reduced to $550,000, and the available assets of the sinking fund more than equal that sum.

We have increased the annual appropriation for support of our charitable institutions from the $250,000 in 1897 to $500,000 in 1898, and while improving our judicial system by increasing the number of courts and the frequency of their terms we have been compelled to increase our expenditures, one of the greatest items of which is the cost of criminal prosecutions, and a not cable fact in connection with which is that the increase is greater in districts controlled by Republican officials. We have nevertheless been able to decrease the current rate of taxation for general revenue purposes from twenty cents on the one hundred dollars of taxable property in 1897 to fifteen cents in 1898. The Democratic majority have voluntarily increased the annual expenditures for the support of our educational institutions from $250,000 in 1897 to about $2,000,000 in 1898, and by wisely providing separate schools for the two races are today giving to the children of the colored race opportunities for education they nowhere else enjoy.

In the face of unexampled difficulties the Democracy party has succeeded in wholly withdrawing convicts labor from competition with free labor and in establishing the practice inherited from the Republican party of leasing the convicts to parties interested solely in making profit out of their labor, and in adopting the modern and improved methods by which the state and its officers are made directly responsible for the management of our state prisons and under which our penitentiary system has been and is being greatly improved.

During the twenty-eight years the people have intrusted the Democratic party with the control of the state government its administration has been characterized by the strictest economy and integrity, and in this regard we invite comparison with any Republican state government.

Fifth—We express our confidence in the wisdom and honesty with which the present state administration has conducted the affairs of our state government.

THE TERRIBLE KNOT.
An instrument of punishment the more fearful than the "cat."

Our own record in the matter of flagging is not a nice one. Happily, some diligent research is needed to present it fully, for the whip, as an instrument of discipline, has almost disappeared in this country. It is a good many years since the "cat" has flourished over the backs of our soldiers and its employment in our prisons is exceptional in these days. And even where it does exist the present day punishment of the "cat," inflicted with an instrument that carries no knots and seldom more than fifteen or twenty strokes, is not to be compared with the savage floggings of the past.

The Russian "knot," however, is a much more terrible instrument of torture than the "cat," as will be seen from the accompanying illustration.
And, unfortunately, one never knows for certain how much of the knot is left in modern Russia. The telegraph wire still at times carries the horrid whizz of it from remote Siberia, and only the other day came the news from St. Petersburg of a new imperial ukase "abolishing the use of the knot for the punishment of offenses committed by the peasantry," who have hitherto been completely at the mercy

Russian Instruments of Punishment. of the local judges in this respect, because the ukases were submitted to the czar. Saying that in ten years 8,000 persons, mostly guilty of thefts of produce, had died after punishment with the knot."

Granted the infliction of the knot, the 3,500 deaths are easily believed; the instrument itself (amounting this to be true) evidently does harder than its victims. But even in Russia, where the rod and the whip have had a more extended and bloody existence than in any other European state, the humane spirit of the age has been felt, and one is disposed to regard as exaggerated the statements just quoted. Certainly it had been generally supposed that the knot was abolished for all but the grossest offenses, so long ago as 1881.
But Russia has never been governed wholly by its written laws, and there are regions of that empire where a slave may be slow to reach the "local judges."

IMPROVED POKER DECK.

There are Sixty Cards in It, and Right
May Play in Comfort.

The great American game of poker has been given a new impetus by these improved cards of their kind, the men who enjoy the game. The only fault that could be found with this senatorial pastime was that it did not admit of enough players who could lose

THE TEN, ELEVEN AND TWELVE.

money. The rules of the game were all right, because those were works of genius and are as elastic as the atmosphere, but the hitch came right in the pack, because Diarrhoea 1, of course, didn't know anything about poker, and he is believed to have been the first man who ever correctly called a turn.

Some beneficent spirit has improved the pack of fifty-two cards, which made it rather difficult sometimes for six men to play. He has dilated it into a pack of sixty cards, so that eight good poker players and true may indulge in their bet to the destruction of their fortunes or the depletion of their stock of good temper.

The cards that are added are the eleven and twelve spots of each suit.
The ten spot, in order to alter it into an eleven, has an additional spot in the center, and to become a twelve spot there is given the card three parallel rows of four spots. It is a novelty of the newest kind, and now there will be no longer any unscrupulousness about the game.

Just think that under this improved condition of things eight of you may have your cards dealt out and there twenty still in the pack to choose from.

Prosperity has set in around Middleborough. Thirty-two coke ovens have been fired up at Mingo mines and thirty more a week will be started until 800 are in operation, says the Courier-Journal.

"Eccentric."
We know that it sounds queer to talk about the Electropose curing malady diseases, but let us mind the fact that it is the old treatment that has announced the case incurable. We do not make the claim that we can cure all curable diseases, but we do maintain with all earnestness that a case innounced incurable by your family physician is a splendid field for the operation of the Electropose. It may be the treatment necessary, and it is likely to be so. If it fails, there is no guarantee against the "Pose," but in a case, the fact of the physician's statement is proven to be true. But the patient who has been given up by his physician who has again recovered through treatment of the Electropose.

One hundred and ninety persons preaching of Evangelist Howard at Morehead last week. It was the greatest revival ever known in Eastern Kentucky.

John Johnson, who was
